THREE INCLINES FOR THE SOUTHSIDE

Unless decisive action is taken early in the present week Controller Morrow will next Wednesday carry into execution the threat made by him a week ago to stop payment on any and all contracts for supplies or work let by the chiefs of departments without the Mayor's approval. It is immaterial to the Controller who takes the necessary step, but he insists on its being immediately carried up to court for a decision.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee a week ago yesterday the Controller stated his position very succinctly and served notice on the committee that he would compel somebody to go into court by refusing to pay the money due them unless the committee arranged for a settlement of the point without forcing him to adopt arbitrary measures. The committee, in the face of this plain and business-like statement, either because they dida't know what to do or because they desired to show their contempt for such a threat, took no action at all on the question before them, notwithstanding the pointed advice contained in an opinion they had under consideration from the City Attorney. The opinion clearly stated that the question raised by the Controller was a grave and important one, and the only way to settle it was by a decision from the Supreme Court.

Hard to Get a Decision. To get such a decision will require considerable time. The Supreme Court moves slowly, as a rule. If the Controller sticks to his resolution to refuse to draw warrants for the persons having contracts un til the decision is handed down no inconveniences will entailed on the various departments. The contractors furnishing supplies will be wary, it is thought, about keeping up to their contracts, when they are receiving no money for the goods furnished and are not likely to for months to come and may take the opportunity of getting out of their contracts. If the rule is applied to street con-tracts it may cause badly needed improvements to be delayed over the coming winter. In discussing the matter yesterday the Controller said: "I was given to under-stand last week that a suit would be entered yesterday or to-day to secure a decision on the question as to the Mayor's right of ap-proval of contracts. But the suit has not been brought and I have heard nothing on contract warrants last week but for that

Will Give Three Days' Grace I will allow two or three days for Councils, the Finance Committee, or whoever ginning and if nothing is done I will stop payment. It won't be long then until some of the contractors will sue for their money. Then I will go into court and take the Then I will go into court and take the ground that the contract had not been approved by the Mayor and was consequently not legal. In order to decide whether I must pay the money the court must decide on the legality of the proceeding. If decided in the affirmative I will appeal to the Supreme Court at once. If in the negative the other fellow will. I have no doubt as to the outcome when the higher indicing gets to work on the oneshigher judiciary gets to work on the ques-tion. This will require time, of course, but

The Ordinance Will Have Good Effect, A general ordinance applying to street railway companies which was approved by the Committee on Corporations vesterday operative. It was introduced by Mr. Warmcastle, and requires that in putting down new tracks or in repairing those already down the railway companies must repave the street between their rails and one foot on the outside with new block stone. Failure on the part of the com-panies to comply with this rule within a reasonable time will necessitate the De-partment of Public Works doing the work and charging the cost to the respective com-pany, to be collected by legal process. Several companies have of late been putting lines on streets paved with cobble and as their ordinances do not require block stone paving they could not be compelled to improve the streets over which they secured valuable privileges without new legislation.

New Street Car Privileges. Among the other business transacted by the committee was an ordinance for the Second Avenue Traction Company, allowing permission to extend its tracks from the present terminus at Hazelwood to the city line. It was favorably recommended, but an amendment was added by Mr. Mc-Gunnegle, providing that the company pave the street between the tracks and one foot outside with block stone, and also that the work be commenced within one year.

The ordinance of the Central Transit Con pany, part of the Pittsburg Traction system providing for a loop connecting the Fifth avenue and the Duquesne lines, was also favorably considered.
It provides for a line beginning at Howe and South Highland avenues, hence along the latter to Fifth avenue thence to Denniston avenue and back to

The license was fixed at $75 a year.

New Inclines for the Southside, There were three ordinances asking the right of way for inclines from South Twenty-first street to Mt. Oliver, and all on about the same survey lines. They were the Park Incline Plane Company, the H. S. McKee Incline Company and the Mt. Oliver Incline Railway Company. They were all referred to a sub-committee. A Child in Allegheny Makes Burglars Drop

Their Plunder. Last Sunday evening about 9 o'clock two men, wearing masks, effected an entrance into the house of Samuel Marshall, on Willis street, Nunnery Hill. They secured from a bureau drawer a watch, several pieces of jewelry and a little money. In the house at the time was a 12-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, and four young children. The children were asleep, the father and mother and one of the children being at church. Elizabeth heard the noise of the men at the kitchen and ran quietly upstairs, where she found her father's revolver. When she came down the two men were in the dining room. She bravely ordered them to drop the plunder and told them to leave the house or she would shoot them. The men laid the jewelry on a table and ran from the house

Nick Young Receives His Card With a Request for Information.

CONGRESS ASKED TO RESTORE The Passapatanzy Church, Destroyed by Federal Troops in 1863.

NTERESTING TALE OF THE LATE WAR

A reminder of war times with a very ineresting story in connection comes from a little hamlet in Virginia, where the Metho dist congregation of that place is in need of a new building, and an appeal will be made o Congress for assistance. All sorts of laims are made on the national lawmakers, but this is probably the first time they have been asked to build a house of worship.

Five years ago Nick Young, the ex-detective and former proprietor of the old St. Nicholas Hotel, had a yearning to visit some of the battle fields in the South in which his regiment participated. He was member of the One Hundred and Seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers. In the course of his rambles he found himself in Common. King George county, Va. He became very friendly with the landlord of the little hotel in the town, and when he came away he left his card with the name of his regi-

Smallpox Hospital in a Church. In 1863 a smallpox scourge broke out among the troops, and the church was then turned into a pest house. At the close of the war the commanding officer ordered the building to be burned, and the victorious army marched back to the North, leaving the Methodists of Passapatanzy impover-ished and without a place of worship. The burned building was strong and substantial, and the cynosure of the country tolks. In its stead a flimsy structure was reared, and until recently the poor people have used it as their church. This temporary building is now on its last legs, having weathered the storms for 30 years, and the town authorities have condemned it. Once more the Methodist flook is without a church, and the aged men who remember the White Oak property sign for the good old days be-

The people are too poor to pay for a new building, and at last it was suggested that as the church was burned by Federal troops that possibly Congress would replace it. An appeal will be made to the House, but the next point was to gain information. Nobody remembered the names of the officers in command of the hospital or the regiments that camped in the neighborhood. neers in command of the hospital of the regiments that camped in the neighborhood. In this emergency the landlord of the hotel fished out Nick Young's card from his collection, and the ex-detective was surprised the other day to receive a letter from E. F. Whitehouse, of Common.

Congress Is to Be Convinced. The writer inclosed Mr. Young's card, and explained that the congregation was in need of a church which they intend to ask Congress to build and they were in search of informa-tion. He wanted the names of the officers and regiments. Mr. Whitehouse stated that he was not a Southerner. He emigrated he was not a Southerner. He emigrated from Maine 16 years ago, and has been living in Common since. He said he thought it would only be fair for the Government to rebuild the church, and, as a Northern man willing to do a neighborly act and help his fellows in the South, he would preset a petition of the common state of the tition to Congress.

Mr. Young decided to answer the letter through THE DISPATCH. The One Hundred and Seventh Eggiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, used the church as a smallpox Volunteers, used the church as a smallpox hospital in March, 1863. The surgeon was Dr. Daniel, now of Morrisville, Pa. General F. F. McCoy, of Lewistown, was Colonel of the regiment at the time and Major F. B. Thomas, now of Wanamaker's store, Philadelphia, was the adjutant. Major Schafer, of Harrisburg, was another officer. These men are living, and Mr. Young says he has no doubt they will give the Passanatany Methodists, all the inforthe Passapatanzy Methodists all the infor-mation they need to convince Congress that the church was burned by Federal troops. Mr. Young will add his testimony if necessary. Nick is glad that his card has proven of so much service to the Virginians.

INSTRUMENTS BURNED.

Electric Wires Set Fire to the Attic of the Federal Street Depot-Difficult Work for the Firemen-Loss $5,000.

The Federal street depot of the Pennsylvania Company, in Allegheny, suffered severely by fire yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Two large cables of telegraph wires and several electric light wires enter the attic of the building near the southwest corner. The fire was caused by electricity, the insulating material having been worn off, and the current setting fire to the wood work where the wires entered.

The attic is divided into half a dozen coms, which are low and small. Some of them are used for the storing of old documents, another is an operating room, and in another a great deal of valuable telegraphic apparatus was stored. It was in this room that the fire originated. Two operators who were in an adjoining room were warned by the smoke, and they discovered the wall and part of the roof on fire. They hurried down stairs and sounded the alarm, and the ire bureau soon responded.

When the firemen reached the scene

heavy smoke was pouring out of all the attic windows and from under the eaves of the roof. Several men of No 6 company ascended the crooked and narrow stairs with a Babcock extinguisher, but the attic was so full of amoke that they could not reach the fire, which was in the room farthest from the stairs. They the room farthest from the stairs. They made their way to the Federal street windows for air, but even there they were al-most suffocnted before a ladder was run up Truck A lifted a large extension ladder. It was very slow work, and when it was up it was not used. The fire was a very hard one to get at, and the firemen were finally compelled to get to the roof and ent a large hole right over the fire. Through this two lines of hose were run, and the attic was flooded. After the fire was reached it was soon extinguished.

The Manchester cars were stopped for about his hour, and the railroad trains were blocked for almost as long as the hose was laid across the tracks. During the excite-ment a man in the depot was robbed of his pocketbook, containing about $50.

WITHOUT AN ORDER FROM COURT.

Mrs. Mary Gilroy Demands Her Share of a Valuable Estate.

NEWS FROM THE TEMPLE OF JUSTICE

A hearing was to have been had yester day morning before Judge Ewing in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by J. H. Turner to recover his 10-year-old son from Benjamin Martin, of Federal street, Allegheny. When the case was called, however, an odd condition of affairs was revealed. Martin, who is a relative of Turner and had been keeping the boy for a year, had become attached to him and refused to let his father have him. He was present, with all the witnesses, but Turner and the boy were absent. It was then developed that Deputy Sheriff Robert Baxter, who had served the writ on Martin, took the child away with him and gave him to his father, Turner, The latter then left the city with the boy.

Judge Ewing severly censured the deputy and Turner for their actions and at once issued an attachment for the arrest of Turner for contempt of court. In the mean while the case was necessarily suspended

WANTS HER PULL SHARE,

Mary Gilroy Alleges That She Has Been Unfairly Treated, A petition was filed in the Orphans Court yesterday by the Safe Deposit Company, as attorney in fact for Mary Gilroy, of Allegheny. She, it is stated, is one of the neirs of the late Elizabeth Schaefer. The account of the administratrix, Clara Shaefer, was filed June 17. It showed Mary Gilroy's share to be $1,276 74. On March 30, 1892, it is alleged, Mary Gilroy was induced by false and fraudulent representations, made by and on behalf of Clara Shaefer, to sign a paper agreeing to accept $500 as her share of the estate and acknowledge receipt of $100 on account. She was told by the administratrix that $500 was her full share and that the signing of the paper was necessary to get the money out of the Orphans' Court. She was unable to read or write and signed it. She now wants the administratrix compelled to pay her the full amount, $1,276 74. A citation was issued and July 16 fixed for a hearing.

Christian Endeavor Delegate Strikes an Unpopular Chord-The Convention Will Probably Commit Itself on the World's Fair Sunday Opening Question

NEW YORK, July 9.-When the third days' session of the Christian Endeavor Convention began at 6:30 o'clock this morning, more than 5,000 delegates were present. The meeting lasted nearly an hour, and after it was over the delegates marched out singing psalms and hymns. They went to their hotels and boarding houses to eat breakfast and get ready for the regular session, which began at 9 o'effect.

It was a few minutes after 9 o'clock when President Clark opened the session. The report of the Committee on Nominations for Vice Presidents was read by Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sherwood, of New York, and adopted, the Vice Presidents are the only officers the Committee has power to nomin-ate, as the others are elected by the trustees R. S. Murphy, of Philadelphia, spoke on "Proportionate Giving to God." Mr. Murphy's ideas were not all received with phy's ideas were not all received unanimous favor, as he struck a blow at that institution dear to the heart of every that institution dear to the heart of every Sunday school teacher, the strawberry festival. He said every person should give at least a tenth of his property to the Lord. Rev. Leroy S. Bean, of Gorham, Me., then delivered an address on "Systematic Giving to God." An "open meeting" was conducted by Robert E. Speer, of New York City, for 45 minutes. Different delegates arose and told what their societies were doing for missions.

garding the place for the convention of 1894 was presented by Rev. N. Boynton, of Boston. Three invitations were received, from San Francisco, Denver and Cleveland, and the latter city was recommended. Loud cheering followed, and the whole Cleveland, contingent started up their "rally song," "Cleveland, "94," to the tune of "Bringing in the Sheaves." Denver and San Francisco delegates joined in the chorus.

Rev. H. H. Spooner, at a meeting of Christian Endeavor delegates this afternoon, introduced a resolution opposing the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday, on the ground that a large number of people, especially those that adhere to the biblical code of morals, will be prevented from atespecially those that adhere to the biblical code of morals, will be prevented from at-tending the World's Fair. It was carried by a large majority, who were in favor of disregarding the advice of the Board of Tratees. Dr. Grose, of the United Society, advised the meeting not to commit them-selves of cially.
